Congratulations Graduates!

Upward Bound is proud to announce the graduation of nine seniors. Justin Johnson, Burns Flat-Dill City; Beau Perry, Carnegie; Izaak Izaguirre, Clinton; Charla Crotts, Elk City; Kayla LaMunyon and Erin Shortman, Watonga; and Whitley Jefferson, Saranda

Keesling, and Lorena Medina Weatherford. We are so very proud of your accomplishments and how far you have all come. We are excited to see what your futures hold in store for each of you.

This summer the Bridge students will be attending college classes as well as participating in UB events. Unfortunately, they will be in class while the rest of the UBers will be out having fun during School out of doors. The good news is that when they are all finished with their on-campus classes they will be off for their adventures in New Mexico. They will get to do some white water rafting, hiking, ride chair lifts, and camping. Please join us in congratulating the seniors by giving them a high five for a job well done!!

Move in date for UB is June 2nd. Make sure you pay attention at the May 17th meeting! You will be meeting Dorm Counselors as well as new UBers!

Reward Trip Date Set!

If you were one of the RESPONSIBLE ones that came to meetings and did Comfit.....Congratulations! You've just won a trip to Texas for 3 days and 2 nights! The first stop will be Grapevine Mills and the Rainforest Café for fine food and shopping. Next, you'll be on to Days Inn for an evening of swimming, fun and then bed. The next day you will be whisked away by shuttle to Six Flags for a day of fun and then off to Medieval Times for a meal with no silverware. The next morning we'll head home to get ready for the greatest summer ever in Upward Bound! The results for those who qualified were taken from attendance and Comfit combined to come up with those who completed 75% total. Give yourselves a pat on the back for doing what you were supposed to do!

Your business tag line here.

This would be a good place to insert a short paragraph about your organization. It might include the purpose of the organization, its mission, founding date, and a brief history. You could also include a brief list of the types of products, services, or programs your organization offers, the geographic area covered (for example, western U.S. or European markets), and a profile of the types of customers or members served.

It would also be useful to include a contact name for readers who want more information about the organization.

Back Page Story Headline

This story can fit 175-225 words.

If your newsletter is folded and mailed, this story will appear on the back. So, it's a good idea to make it easy to read at a glance.

A question and answer session is a good way to quickly capture the attention of readers. You can either compile questions that you've received since the last edition or you can summarize some generic questions that are frequently asked about your organization.

A listing of names and titles of managers in your organization is a good way to give your newsletter a personal touch. If your organization is small, you may want to list the names of all employees.

If you have any prices of standard products or services, you can include a listing of those here. You may want to refer your readers to any other forms of communication that you've created for your organization.

You can also use this space to remind readers to mark their calendars for a regular event, such as a breakfast meeting for vendors every third Tuesday of the month, or a biannual charity auction.

If space is available, this is a good place to insert a clip art image or some other graphic.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 150-200 words.

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases, market studies, and reports.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or service, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers.

A great way to add useful content to your newsletter is to develop and write your own articles, or include a calendar of upcoming events or a special offer that promotes a new product.

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Publisher offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 100-150 words.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 75-125 words.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content to your newsletter.

Think about your article and ask yourself if the picture supports or enhances the message you're trying to convey.

Avoid selecting images that appear to be out of context.

Microsoft Publisher includes thousands of clip art images from which you can choose and import into your newsletter. There are also several tools you can use to draw shapes and symbols.

Once you have chosen an image, place it close to the article. Be sure to place the caption of the image near the image.
